Rotary President Ian Riseley has challenged clubs around the world to plant 1.2 million trees, 1 for every Rotarian, by Earth Day on April 22 of this year. Through the Nature Conservancy, we can plant a tree in the Central Appalachian Mountains for only $3.00 a Rotarian, or approximately $150.00 for the club. If you would like to plant a tree you can donate money when you pay for lunch over the next couple of weeks. If we hit our goal of $150.00, the Rotary Club will physically plant a tree in an appropriate area of Derby or Shelton

BUSINESS BULLETIN BOARD

Don't forget to bring all business notices, business cards and special event announcements to the meeting for the Vocational Table.
